THE MESSAGE

Washing and it should be todour.

Washing to be a 15.— It is understood that the president's message on the Hawalian affair will be sent into congress after the cabbot nesting friends of the Alemedia from San Francisco.

Secretary Gresham was equally reticent on the subject Thursday when questioned about the message and said he had no information in that conscious to impend the prepared and the sourceposited to what I have when the congregoration with it. At Thereday's cabinet meeting it was discussed, and it was decided that it go to the sonate practically in the same form as originally prepared, there having been no change in liawaii of importance which would in any way effect the tenor of the president's state—portanee which would in any way effect the tenor of the president's state-timents.

The president will attempt to show the president's state sunctioned by Minister Stevens; that, as they received the approval of the United States, and are considered by the present administration unjustified and natriendly, they must be undone. The president will say that Minister formally the proposition of unnexation, and to then announce that the United States demanded that the queen be restored to power peacefully. That if she was answilling to be seated without the assurance of this government that to take no steps, but await instructions from the United States.

The president will say that Minister Wills has found the provisional government much stronger than stated, the carrying out of his instructions. The president, having exhausted the prerogatives of his office to bring about a settlement with Hawail without calling upon the naval force to assist it, there is no other resort for the president with resort of the further section of congress.
